

Catherine Gill
Office Coordinator

Catherine has had a long-standing passion for dance. Having trained at the Royal Ballet School, graduating in 1996, she went on to teach ballet in Stuttgart in Germany, before returning to her home town of London where she performed professionally in several small contemporary companies.

Catherine moved to Brighton in 1999. She studied at the University of Sussex, graduating in 2004 with a degree in History of Art. Between 2005- 2008 she worked in the Visual Arts department of Arts Council England, South East, taking a three-month break in 2007 to travel around Japan where she completed the 88 temple pilgrimage walk of just over 700 miles to raise money for 'Shelter'.

In her free time she attends regular contemporary dance classes in Brighton and enjoys all forms of art – music gigs, theatre and visual arts exhibitions.

Catherine joined South East Dance as Office Coordinator in April 2008 and is enjoying working in a challenging, creative environment.
