

Emily James
Programme Coordinator

Emily's passion for the arts began when she left school in Bristol and accepted a voluntary position to work overseas at the National Theatre of Namibia.

On her return to Bristol, Emily worked in the box office at the Theatre Royal Bath, before taking up a degree place to study English and Women's Studies at Anglia Polytechnic University in Cambridge.

Following her degree, Emily worked at the Cambridge Arts Theatre for five years and during this time undertook a part time Diploma in Arts Management. She then went on to work as Events Assistant for Cambridge City Council helping with the day-to-day running of a new venue, profiling the venue through re-branding and programming a wide variety of events.

In August 2007 Emily moved to Brighton and joined South East Dance as Office Coordinator. She enjoys gardening, running and contemporary dance and is keen to continue these interests in Brighton.
